MAYOR'S REPORT

Mayor Turner stated that the last several days we have been dealing with Tropical Storm Beta which transitioned to a Depression and is now in the East of Houston. He wanted to first say thank you to all of our Police Officers, the Firefighters, Houston Public Works Employees, in fact all of the Municipal Employees for the work that they have done and he wants to thank the people in the City of Houston for responding positive to our request in staying off the road to avoid putting themselves into a Hazardous situation. This storm was very slow moving, it seem like it took forever for the storm to hit landfall, in the Southern part of Texas and then when it hit land around Victoria, it started to head to the Northeast direction and at one point in time they were saying that they were only going to expect 4 to 8 inches of rain and we ended up experiencing more. In some cases some people got up to 12 inches of rain within a 24 hour period, the rain bans just kept coming but the good news from all of this with the exception of the water coming up on the banks, for example Keegan's Bayou on Monday night and then the water in Willow waterhole and went into the pond and then went into the streets. We didn't have much structural damage; we didn't have structural damage until Tuesday and the last number he got was about 11 structural damages and there could be more, but he won't know until he gets the final report. It wasn't nearly as bad as it could have been.

Mayor Turner wanted to acknowledge the work that has been done with Project Brays because it was tested we got a lot of rain in a short period of time and prior to project Brays, they can honestly say that water would have been out of the banks and people's homes would have been adversely impacted but it does say that project Brays did work. He wants to thank everyone that have put forth work and their efforts in that project and he wanted to remind Council that couple of years ago, we ended up borrowing $46 -$47 million dollars from the Texas Water Development Board to speed up that project and it is scheduled to be completed in the first part in 2021 but the project did work. It does prove that these mitigation efforts are worth their weight in gold. Mayor Turner is looking forward to taking that old Shell facility, along the Willow Waterhole and turning that into additional 13 acres of detention and Steve Costello has spoken about the former landfill Refino and turning that into additional detention and that will help mitigate flooding or water coming out of the banks at Keegan's which will help. The Gates in Kingwood, one of the Four Hazard Mitigation Projects will be a substantial improvement there, the Project in TIRZ 17 in Council Members Peck and Travis will also help out. The Inwood Detention Project in Northwest Houston and Council Members Peck and Davis will benefit right outside of the Acres Homes and Pinewood Area and then the Storm Water Improvement Canal Project, a $131 million dollars which is the largest one in the State of Texas which already has been approved and funded. That project will certainly help Buffalo Bayou and White Oak where it converges and all of those projects that he has mentioned have been approved and are moving forward will increase the capacity to mitigate the risk of flooding. He wanted to thank everyone, and we have learned a lot and we are resilient people. Thanks to Chief Buenik and the Office of Emergency Management and his team. Mayor Turner have ordered that the Gulf of Mexico be closed to all of the weather systems for the rest of this year "Laugher Erupts".

Mayor Turner stated that last June he announced Greentown Labs to Houston and yesterday, he was proud to announce the first ClimateTech incubator in the City will be in the Midtown 16-acre innovation District. A growing epic center for the City's innovation Ecosystem. The Greentown Houston is located at 4200 San Jacinto Street and it's on track to open its doors to Houston's Entrepreneurs in the Spring of 2021 and it will include 40,000 square feet of prototyping lab and office and community space for about 200 to 300 employees with 50 young emerging companies.

Mayor Turner stated that he wanted to shift there because we are still dealing with the Coronavirus, a sobering report, over 200,000 Americans have lost their lives to the Coronavirus and more than 1,054 Houstonians have lost their lives to the virus. It's a sobering moment that the virus is still very much a threat and we still need to exercise the precaution in wearing the mask and social distancing. Testing will resume today, and he requested that the Council Members using their platforms to remind people to go and get tested. It falls in line with the Houston Climate Action Plan and it's very excited about that.

Mayor Turner didn't want to end his comments without mentioning Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg and he wants to pause to remember her, she was an outstanding jurist, she graduated at the top of her class from Columbia Law School and even then had a hard time in getting a job at the major law firms but she didn't give up and she continued to find a way to exercise her gift and she did. Then wound up being on the Supreme Court and this is a reminder that even though some people will close doors on you but your talent will open doors in other directions but you have to be resilient and you can't give up and she didn't and her contribution for 27 years on the Supreme Court, speaks for its self. She was a champion for so many and through her pen and her voice opportunities for so many had opened up. Mayor Turner requested for a pause.

Members of Council commented and questioned Mayor Turner on the Mayor's report.

Mayor Turner also wanted to say that September 30, 2020 is the last day for the Census. Mayor Turner wanted to thank Council Member Peck for his Jelly Cake that she made for his Birthday.
