Date	Subject: Ordinance approving Conservation Easement	Originator's	Page
}	Agreements relating to the Houston Public Library's Julia Ideson Building	Initials	2 of 2

When JILPP was founded, the City of Houston agreed to execute a similar conservation easement agreement, which would preserve and protect the nature of the premises, maintain the dominant historical, cultural and architectural character of the premises and restrict the use of the building and space within to library, archival, information research and other public and private functions related to such use that do not interfere with its primary use as a library and archive.

This agreement runs concurrent with the Department of Interior's National Park Service agreement and is intended to supplement and expand that agreement, thereby further protecting the historic Julia Ideson Building.

Subject: Drainage Fee Amendment #1 Exemptions

It must be recognized that the ultimate funding sources for the Proposed Drainage Fee are the residents and businesses in the City of Houston. Thus, it is clear that charging entities which are themselves funded by those same businesses and residents does nothing more that create an unnecessary "pass-through" mechanism, adding additional administrative costs to the process. Exempting entities of this kind, such as schools and places of worship, does not increase the burden on businesses and residents who are not exempt; it merely prevents this pass-through effect and eliminates unnecessary billings and duplicative invoices. It actually reduces costs to the process!

Not being able to locate permissive authority within existing Texas State Statutes to exempt private schools; Council Member Al Hoang and I speak today to offer the following amendment, to exempt schools and religious organizations from a drainage charge under the proposed Chapter 47 of the Code of Ordinances, Houston, Texas, Article XIV. Municipal Drainage Utility System.

Sec. 47-822 Drainage charge established; exemptions.

Section (f)(5) shall be changed to read as follows:

(5) property owned by, including improvements thereon, any independent school district, to include any public charter school, that is recognized by the State of Texas;

Section (f)(6) shall be changed to read as follows:

(6) property owned by religious organizations, including improvements thereon, that is used primarily as a place of worship, and/or other activities, as defined in the Texas Tax Code Section 11.20, subsection (c);

Section (g) shall be added and will read as follows:

(g) Other exemptions, if any, from the imposition of a drainage charge shall be as indicated in the Schedule of Rates attached hereto.
