Title Transfer Clarity

BARC
ANIMAL SHELTER
& ADOPTIONS

- Several stakeholders expressed concerns about the legal status of animals transferred from BARC to third party rescue groups.
- In order to remove this uncertainty, we have:
  - Clarified definitions (6-1)
    - Adoption
    - Disposition
  - Introduced language to clarify the legal ownership of transferred animals (6-102)

Update Outdated Definitions

BARC
ANIMAL SHELTER
& ADOPTIONS

- BARC is no longer the Bureau of Animal Regulation and Care
- A definition has been added for extreme weather conditions
- References to the building code have been added
- The definition of feral cat has been tweaked
  - Due to stakeholder feedback
- The definition of humane society has been extended to include rescue groups that might not staff permanent shelters
  - Due to stakeholder feedback

BARC

& ADOPTIONS

Eliminate or Update Unnecessary Regulations

- Replacing the tattoo requirement for animals involved in a bite incident with a microchip requirement
- Removing the permit for wild animals
- Removing the permit for milch goats

BARC
ANIMAL SHELTER
& ADOPTIONS

Improve tools available to effect positive animal control outcomes

- A more precise definition of animal ownership was added
- Dangerous/Aggressive/Public Nuisance Dog Designations
- BARC will not adopt or foster to any person convicted of animal cruelty
- On every first impoundment, unaltered animals will be altered at the owner's expense
  - Due to stakeholder feedback, an exception was added for animals whom it would be medically inadvisable to alter
  - A one-time exception was also added for pets that have an unaltered pet license
- A hobby/non-commercial breeder permit has been added
  - Stakeholders informed us that hobby breeding was substantially different from commercial and non-commercial breeding and that it warranted its own license.
- A non-commercial breeder permit has been added

Retool provisions to streamline BARC

BARC
ANIMAL SHELTER
& ADOPTIONS

- The chain of ownership to and from BARC was clarified
  - This issue is currently the subject of litigation, not addressing this topic in these revisions presents several negative implications for current and future operations
  - Stakeholders stressed the legal importance of clear animal ownership and directed us to jurisdictions that had implemented clear language
  - BARC now clearly takes ownership of an animal at the end of either 72 hours or 6 days, and BARC disposes of its ownership via either adoption, transfer to a humane organization, or humane euthanasia
- Eligibility for the in-home quarantine of dogs involved in bite cases has been expanded

Transform Outdated Kennel License System

BARC
ANIMAL SHELTER
& ADOPTIONS

- The term “Dog Kennel” has been replaced with “Commercial Pet Services Facility.”
- Commercial Pet Services Facility has been clearly defined
- Clear guidelines for suspending/revoking a permit have been established
  - Independent due process protections have also been implemented.

& ADOPTIONS

Livestock – Context for Future Work

- Livestock permit created
  - Informed by standards established in other Texas cities
- Enclosure standards for Horse Stables established
  - Informed by recommended standards per the Texas A&M School of Veterinary Science
- Enclosure standards for livestock established
  - Informed by recommended standards per the Texas A&M School of Veterinary Science
- BARC recommends that it continue to work with stakeholders to refine current recommendations on this issue
  - BARC will work to bring formal recommendations for Council action regarding livestock in April, 2014

BARC
ANIMAL SHELTER
& ADOPTIONS

- This comprehensive update to Houston’s animal control regulations will improve animal control, live release, and responsible ownership outcomes.
- Consistent stakeholder feedback has played a significant role in significantly improving the quality of these recommendations.
