Authoring organization, time frame, geographic area, and primary issues:

Two community groups, Southwest Houston 2000, Inc. and the New Braeswood Revitalization Association, worked with the City of Houston Planning and Development Department to create a plan document for the 4.5 square-mile Fondren Southwest area, covering most of Super Neighborhood 36 plus some adjacent areas. The plan's subcommittee names identify the main issues addressed:

- Apartment relations
- Beautification
- Community relations and image
- Crime
- Economic and business development
- Education, recreation, and youth
- Transportation

Plan creation and public involvement:

The plan represents a collaborative effort between the two civic associations and the city.

Strategies:

Key projects:

Most of the recommendations were for “soft” improvements – improve communication within the community and with the city, improve landscape maintenance and reduce littering, anti-crime measures, economic development programs, and traffic management. The principal physical component mentioned was the transformation of the sites of the former Marion High School and Fondren Middle School into a community park.

Implementation and funding:

The document includes action plans based on the goals. Actions are prioritized to give better structure for future implementation and assigned time frames (not strictly defined), resources, and potential funding sources.
