- Install 8” frieze board on the lower porch and bracketry on upper and lower porch of a similar to 608 and 609 White Street;

Re 817 Colorado

Dear Roman

A while ago -The "Old Sixth Ward Historic Committee" had a chance to review the current proposed project at 817 Colorado street.

Among the relevant things we discussed:

- 1 The records indicate that the original structure was a single story with a second story added later changing the use of the structure from a single family dwelling to a boarding house.
- 2 There is photographic documentation that indicates, at the time the second floor was added there was also a second story to the porch added. In a photo from around 1972 there is structural evidence visible of a two story porch that has fallen down.
- 3 Records indicate that the current porch was added around 2000 (not particularly of any great age)...

We have reviewed the current owners plans to modify the existing porch to a closer version of what would have existed around the time of the second floor addition - The owner has presented a series of photos and drawings based on existing original structures in our neighborhood as examples of what the original structure would, likely, have looked like.

In Conclusion : We feel that considering the current porch structure is relatively new ( added around 2000 ) the idea of modifying it with more authentic details is a positive move that will contribute to the overall neighborhood.

- The owner has presented - details appropriately based on other Old Sixth Ward structures of the correct age, layout, and style. The plans utilize the details of other OSW structures that are, first - single story similar to what the original home would have looked like and second - combined with similar OSW two story structures that share the evolution of 817 Colorado's added second story.

In particular - We liked the idea presented by the owner that the detail changes would focus on the ground level porch - leaving a simpler second story porch as it would have been added later..

Finally: We feel that the current porch design does not do justice to what is otherwise a lovely contributing structure that deserves to be returned to a closer version of its original form.

Thank you for your kind consideration - if you have questions please do not hesitate to contact me.
