Application to Rescind Special Minimum Lot Size Block (SMLSB) - Frequently Asked Questions

Application to Rescind a Special Minimum Lot Size Block: Frequently Asked Questions

What is a Special Minimum Lot Size Block (SMLSB) application, what does it mean and who created the boundary?

A SMLSB application provides property owners an opportunity to preserve the lot size character within a specified area. It was supported by property owners within the application area, reviewed by Planning and Development staff and Planning Commission, and was approved by the Houston City Council. Any new lots that are created must currently be greater than or equal to the established Special Minimum Lot Size.

What if my lot is currently smaller than the Minimum Lot Size designated?

If a 5,000 square foot special minimum lot size is established for your area, no lots are able to divide into any size less than 5,000 square feet. If you currently own a lot that is smaller than the special minimum lot size, you are not be allowed to divide your property. If you have a 10,000 square foot lot, you can divide your property into two 5,000 square foot lots.

What can I build on my lot?

On a single family lot you can build a single family home, a single family home with a detached garage apartment not larger than 900 square feet, or a duplex. A Special Minimum Lot Size Ordinance does not determine the physical design of buildings. Please note that deed restrictions may already be imposed on your neighborhood. In those cases the more restrictive of either the proposed lot size or deed restrictions will be applied to the property.

Can I add a porch or rebuild my home/commercial/multifamily property?

Yes, if you have an existing single family lot you are allowed to rebuild, improve or add to your home. If you have an existing commercial or multifamily lot you are allowed to rebuild, improve or add to the building. Please note that deed restrictions may already be imposed on your neighborhood. In those cases the more restrictive of either the proposed lot size or deed restrictions will be applied to the property.

What will happen to my commercial/multifamily lot if the minimum lot size application is rescinded?

Any protections currently provided by the Special Minimum Lot Size Block ordinance would no longer apply to your property.

What happens next in the application process?

An applicant to rescind a Special Minimum Lot Size Block will submit a completed application packet. You may choose to support this application by signing the Evidence of Support page. Planning and Development Department staff will review the application and notify residents within the application area that a complete application was submitted. If an application to rescind a Special Minimum Lot Size Block is referred to the Houston Planning Commission, a public hearing will be held. Planning and Development Department staff will let you know the time and place of the public hearing. Applications are only finalized with City Council approval.

What if I disagree with this application?

Notification sent to property owners will indicate a 30-day protest period allowing property owners to file a written protest with the Planning and Development Department. If an application to rescind a SMLSB receives at least 67% support when it is submitted to the Planning and Development Department and there is a protest from a property owner within the block, the application will be referred to the Houston Planning Commission. If an application to rescind a SMLSB receives less than 67% support when it is submitted to the Planning and Development Department, the application fails, and no further action shall be taken.

What happens at Planning Commission?

At Planning Commission there will be a public hearing where you will have an opportunity to speak. The Planning Commission will recommend approval of, or deny, the application to rescind the Special Minimum Lot Size Block. If recommended for approval, the application will be forwarded to City Council. If the application is denied at Planning Commission or City Council, the application may not be resubmitted for an additional five years.

What happens after City Council?

If City Council approves the application to rescind the Special Minimum Lot Size Block designation, the ordinance will no longer apply to the application area.
