HOW TO FIND COVID-19 INFORMATION AND RESOURCES

This guide provides immigrants and refugees with information about COVID-19. Many services are available regardless of immigration status and at no cost, and you do not need to speak English to get assistance. The City of Houston provides free interpretation for non-English speakers and American Sign Language interpretation for the deaf or hard of hearing. When visiting a City facility, you can ask an employee for an interpreter.

You can click the hyperlinks (words in blue letters), which will automatically take you to the website listed in this guide.

The Office of New Americans and Immigrant Communities is a division of the Department of Neighborhoods.
