

Steering Mobility in the Right Direction

The Southeast Houston Mobility Steering and Technical Committees met Tuesday, October 30th at Harbach-Ripley Neighborhood Center to continue the discussion on how to improve mobility in the study area. The series of committee and community meetings were designed to gather community data and assist in prioritizing mobility needs.

“Working with the community is how we determine the most important mobility needs for the community,” stated Sharon Moses Burns, Transportation Planning, Division Manager. “It is through partnership and collaboration that we are able to assist the greatest number of people and keep Houston moving properly.”

During the committee meeting, consultants shared the results from the October 2018 community meeting including the goals pyramid which prioritized mobility needs. The results revealed the highest ranked goals including neighborhood connections, safety and health. Additional comments included recommendations to add a METRO shuttle to nearby transit centers, trash cleanup, more tree-lined streets, lighting, and sidewalk repairs.
