TAX INCREMENT REINVESTMENT ZONES

The City of Houston implements capital improvement projects through a financing mechanism called a Tax Increment Reinvestment Zone (TIRZ). TIRZs use tax increment revenue generated by increased value within the zone to promote development and redevelopment. As development occurs within each zone, the taxes generated by the increase in value attributable to those improvements, or "tax increment", are captured in separate funds set up for each TIRZ. These funds are then used to pay for approved project costs. For a majority of these TIRZs, the City has created a companion redevelopment authority (RDA) to implement the project and financing plan.

The City of Houston has created twenty-eight TIRZs; currently twenty-seven TIRZs are actively led by the City.

- Each TIRZ is created by action of City Council pursuant to a project plan and reinvestment zone financing plan approved by City Council.
- Each TIRZ has a Board of Directors that is appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by City Council; the TIRZ Board is responsible for implementing the project plan approved by City Council.
- Each TIRZ has a termination date incorporated into the ordinance that created it. City Council can extend the term of each TIRZ.
- Each TIRZ Board prepares an annual budget that is submitted to City Council for approval.

The Mayor's Office of Economic Development coordinates the preparation and presentation of the budgets to City Council. These budgets are approved separately from the City's budget.
